

Our Daily Routine

Our time is organic, it develops through interaction, individual interests and leaders introducing new ways of exploring and interacting with the environment. Through observation and mentoring, leaders nurture meaningful experiences for life long impact. By recognising the importance of appropriate risk-taking, leaders allow learners to challenge themselves, linking these and all other experiences to an area of holistic development, be that social, physical, intellectual, communication, emotional or spiritual.

Throughout our week we will be embracing sustainability, mindfulness, yoga, modern languages, cooking, woodwork, clay and watercolours and reflecting on our experiences through circle time. We value each member and seek to nurture their individual character and connection with nature and our community.
